

To whom it may concern

Basel, 30.11.2012

Letter of Reference for Dr. Christian Gross

Dear Colleagues,

this is a reference letter for Christian Gross, who is applying for a postdoc position at your institute. Christian is currently working as postdoc in my group at the University of Basel (since 10/2011). Before, he was postdoc in Dortmund. He did his PhD in Hamburg under the supervision of Laura Covi.

Christian's strength is that he has experience in various areas of particle phenomenology and astroparticle physics, as can already be seen from his publication list, which includes works on supergravity models, inflation, flavour physics, neutrino and GUT models, as well as on collider physics.

He is also very reliable and has a friendly personality, which makes it easy to collaborate with him. In addition, he has always been willing to help with teaching, and he has also very efficiently organised our weekly journal club last semester. He has broad interests and is always open to new topics.

In summary, when you are looking for a researcher with experience in various topics of Beyond the Standard Model physics, I can recommend him for the postdoc position.

With best regards,

(Prof. Stefan Antusch)